Tune taken from Indiana U. School Song

MODERATO MF

The musical score is written for voice and piano. It consists of six systems of music. The first system begins with the tempo and dynamic markings 'MODERATO MF'. The melody is in the treble clef, and the piano accompaniment is in the bass clef. The key signature has one flat (B-flat). The lyrics are: 'Shaw- nee! My dear old Shaw- nee, You are the school for me. Shaw- nee My dear old Shaw- nee we will al- ways stand by thee. Ev- en in deep- est sor- row Ev- en when oth- ers fail, We will al- ways be loyal to you And dear old Shaw- nee Hail! Rah-rah-rah Shaw- nee Hail!'. The score includes various musical notations such as notes, rests, and bar lines. There are also performance instructions like 'rit.' (ritardando), 'a tempo', and 'Rit.' (Ritardando) placed above the staff. The piano part features chords and single notes in the bass clef.

Shaw- nee! My dear old Shaw- nee, You are the school for me. Shaw- nee My dear old Shaw- nee we will al- ways stand by thee. Ev- en in deep- est sor- row Ev- en when oth- ers fail, We will al- ways be loyal to you And dear old Shaw- nee Hail! Rah-rah-rah Shaw- nee Hail!

FOREWORD

WE ARE fully aware of the conflict that is raging over the entire world today. Many of our former class mates and teachers are on the far flung battle fronts or in training camps.

In view of these sobering events, we have turned to the traditional American sense of humor for inspiration in our book. This is your memory book of the many happy, carefree hours we have spent together.

Carnival Queens

On the evening of November 18, 1943, all the young'uns and the grown'uns appeared at Shawnee High School dressed in thar Sunday-go-meetin'-clothes.

Thar war many people and many events to be attended by the people.

The main events of the evenin' was the crownin' of the Carnival Queen and the music and jokes by the Black Hawk Valley Boys.

The Lasses—Ruth Miller, Margery Sidener, Nelda Hardin and Joan Nunn—were elected by the Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen, respectively.

Miss Nelda Hardin, a very purty gal, was crowned queen by Pappy Knecht! Margie, Ruthie, and Joan were her attendants.

Homecoming Queens

"Gee, I wonder who be goin' to win?" asked another fair lass.

"It looks pritty hopeless. Look how Rockford beat Coldwater, and then how Coldwater beat us," piped up the last fair lassie.

I reckon you'all are wondering whar I picked up the foregoing conversation. Wall, it be just this way. It is Homecoming day and you hear the Queen and her attendants talking over the situation.

Yes, everything turned out as ye feels it should at a homecoming game. The Shawnee Braves came out ahead.

The Misses Marjorie Ebling, Betty Hixenbaugh, and Evelyn Hartman were put up for the Queen and her attendants. Yes, Miss Marjorie Ebling was chosen queen by the students, and Miss Betty Hixenbaugh and Miss Evelyn Hartman, as her attendants.

Mixed Chorus

My Lands! Ya say ya din't know we'uns could sing? Why we warble the best in this hyar county. Effen you still don' believe me, jist take a look at all our trophies. And on the last day of school before Christmas vacation all of us gave a beautiful rendishun of the contata, "Led by a Star."

Feuds? Ya mean to tell me ya don't know what a feud is? Wal, you have one on the reservation once a year when the eistedfodd is held. Mr. Mitchell is leader of the clan, and I must say he has done wonders with all you musical talenters.

The Mixed Chorus gave an operetta, "The Belle of Barcelona," the second week of March. Gee, it shore was pritty and full of good singin' too.

Class Prophecy

Deep in the heart of the Kentucky mountains, the Quilna staff, papers and pen in hand, were wondering hither and yon—searching for inspirations. Our artist needed some models, and we wanted to be authentic in our "you alls" and "we'uns."

But what is this? A doorway leading down into the ground? Well, what are we waiting for—let's go down! Mmm! Musty atmosphere rushed at us from the dim room below. Those jugs look interesting. Could this be some of that famous Kentucky brew? There's just one way to find out—have a taste.

Round and round, faster and faster—why doesn't the room stop spinning? And suddenly why what a nice town this is—the streets are wide and shaded with large elms and there comes Mayor Manahan with the key of the city and a copy of his first book, "Life Begins at Fifty-Three." (Let's see 53-18-44—what year is it anyway???) He tells me his wife, Marjorie Ebling Manahan, is president (quite a glamorous one, too!) of the Town's leading Ladies' Aid.

We strolled on down to the business section of the city and our first stop was a Madam Queen's Dress Shoppe (very exclusive and too too) and there was Madam Queen Evelyn Hartman, the owner, to meet me. Along with her was head manager Evonda Little.

Around the corner was a quaint music store. Inside we saw Dick Rudibaugh sitting cross-legged in the middle of the floor tooting away on his clarinet. It seems he got the habit from a native he met while seeing the world in the Navy.

My word—what is all the clatter—oh, we see it now. It's the purtiest red firewagon I ever saw and Jim Keller and George Myers are doing a bang up job of driving it. (They looked as if they would bang up the truck any minute.)

Next we see a model agency run by Neil Perry (he always did have an eye for pretty girls.) Some of his most famous models are Betty Hixenbaugh, Dorothy Worrell, and Betty Jean Grass.

Would you look at those hats! The designer must have come straight from Paris—but no, it's Richard "Scorch" Fry. He says that designing hats for the ladies keeps them out of his hair. Let's stop in at the bank (maybe they have a scales that we can get weighed on.) Here comes the president, Jack Cuthbert. He tells us that he has more fun counting the bank's money over and over. His two pals, Jack Frysinger and Kenneth Miller (Police Chief and Sheriff, respectively,) drop in every now and then to watch him, I mean to talk to him.

What's that large factory over there? Oh, I see now. It's a new line of farm machinery and their chief designer is Don Adams. Junior Neff is his first assistant—seems they learned all about such things in the farm shop at Shawnee.

Ray wanted to stop in at the light company to pay his bill and there was receptionist Margery Sidener. Some of her co-workers are Ethel Sneary, Betty Kerr, and Edith Aldrich. They all got first class training in Shawnee's Commercial Department.

Now off to the circus (which had just come to town.) Peanuts, popcorn, crackerjack — sure 'nuff that's Loyal McCaslin, doing quite a business, too. Inside at the show we see the elephant act, the bareback rider, and now the acrobats. My goodness, if there isn't Helen Frank being thrown through the air with the greatest of ease by Darrell Lehman and Ray Harshman. They are purty in their pink and green striped tights. This is followed by the trained-seal act, and there, with a pocketful of fish, is their trainer Wilbur Sherer. Those seals sure love him. Next we see the human cannon ball trio, Dallas Zimmerman, Robert Burgess, and John Bingham. They come out of the cannon slick as a whistle—that's funny too, as big as they used to be! (They haven't grown any, either.)

We hurriedly left for the town hall where Ray assured me I would see more of our former classmates at work. The first I caught sight of was Bill Keeling, water commissioner. He listened to the Great 'Water Commissioner' Gildersleeve too much when he was young.) His private secretary, Mildred Lou Moore, tells us confidentially that he's all wet most of the time. He really does a good job though—they serve the best water in town. In the next office we find LaDonna Fantz, the country's district attorney—she's very popular with the voters and has equaled Roosevelt's record for reelection. Margaret Mullenhour is the D.A.'s assistant and scouts around on her motorcycle to get first hand hand information on the latest murders. On the way out we met Charles Hurd. He says his barbershop business is doing so well that he has enough assistants to run the shop, while he takes it easy. (Purty soft, eh what!)

Ray tells me that Barbara Hefner, Doris McGuire, and Kathryn Truesdale compose the town's visiting nurse association. Their patients keep them busy with plenty—measles, mumps and all those diseases we had in our youth. Dorothy Mertz keeps all their charts and records straight. They even have an ambulance with Eugene Hefner (Barbara must have used some of her influence) and the Miller twins driving it. (Remember how fond of sirens they were in high school?)

The town's "buggy" house, (the hickory branch) has Dorothy Cooper and Doris Marshall as Head Matrons. (I wonder if they came up the hard way?) We saw Bill Russell out there, too, but couldn't decide just which side of the fence he was on (guard or onlooker.)

Every town has a beauty shop and this one has the most ultra one I had ever seen—and busily making the town inhabitants beautiful were Mid Kraft and Annabelle Purdy. The shop's masseuse expert was Betty Mitchell. The main attraction of the shop, though, is their famous coiffeur, Ralph yes, Chris Andrews, (who'd u'thunk it.)

Visiting the local school, we find Bill Hunt leading the band, Helen Gray with her own group of student librarians, Darrell Boughan showing the town's young Indians the fundamentals of that great game—Tiddildee-Winks. (You thought I was going to say football, didn't you?) In the shining modern kitchens of the Home Economics department stands the teacher Dorothy Burgess, and down in the Chemistry laboratory, Beulah Brennenman is engaged in an interesting argument with one of her students. (Boot's favorite hobby always was a good argument.) Some of the town's leading housewives, Wilma Lee, Jean Thomas, and Bill Bruno (Betty is busy modeling all day—so Bill has to take over) were down at the market when we passed. They were all trying to get the best head of cabbage. The market is run by the farmer's cooperative with Dale Boughan as its manager. Leading members of the cooperative are Norman Case, Lloyd Grimm, Harold Hardin, Richard Rice and Thomas Kahle—they must be doing right well, too, for they all had high silk hats and the snappiest spats you ever saw.

My last encounter was with the town's piano teacher, Virginia Hinkle, and we'd just begun to talk about the good old days—oooooh, my head, where am I (that's what they always say, isn't it?) Now I remember—we were in Kentucky. What could have been in that jug?

—The Editor.

Football

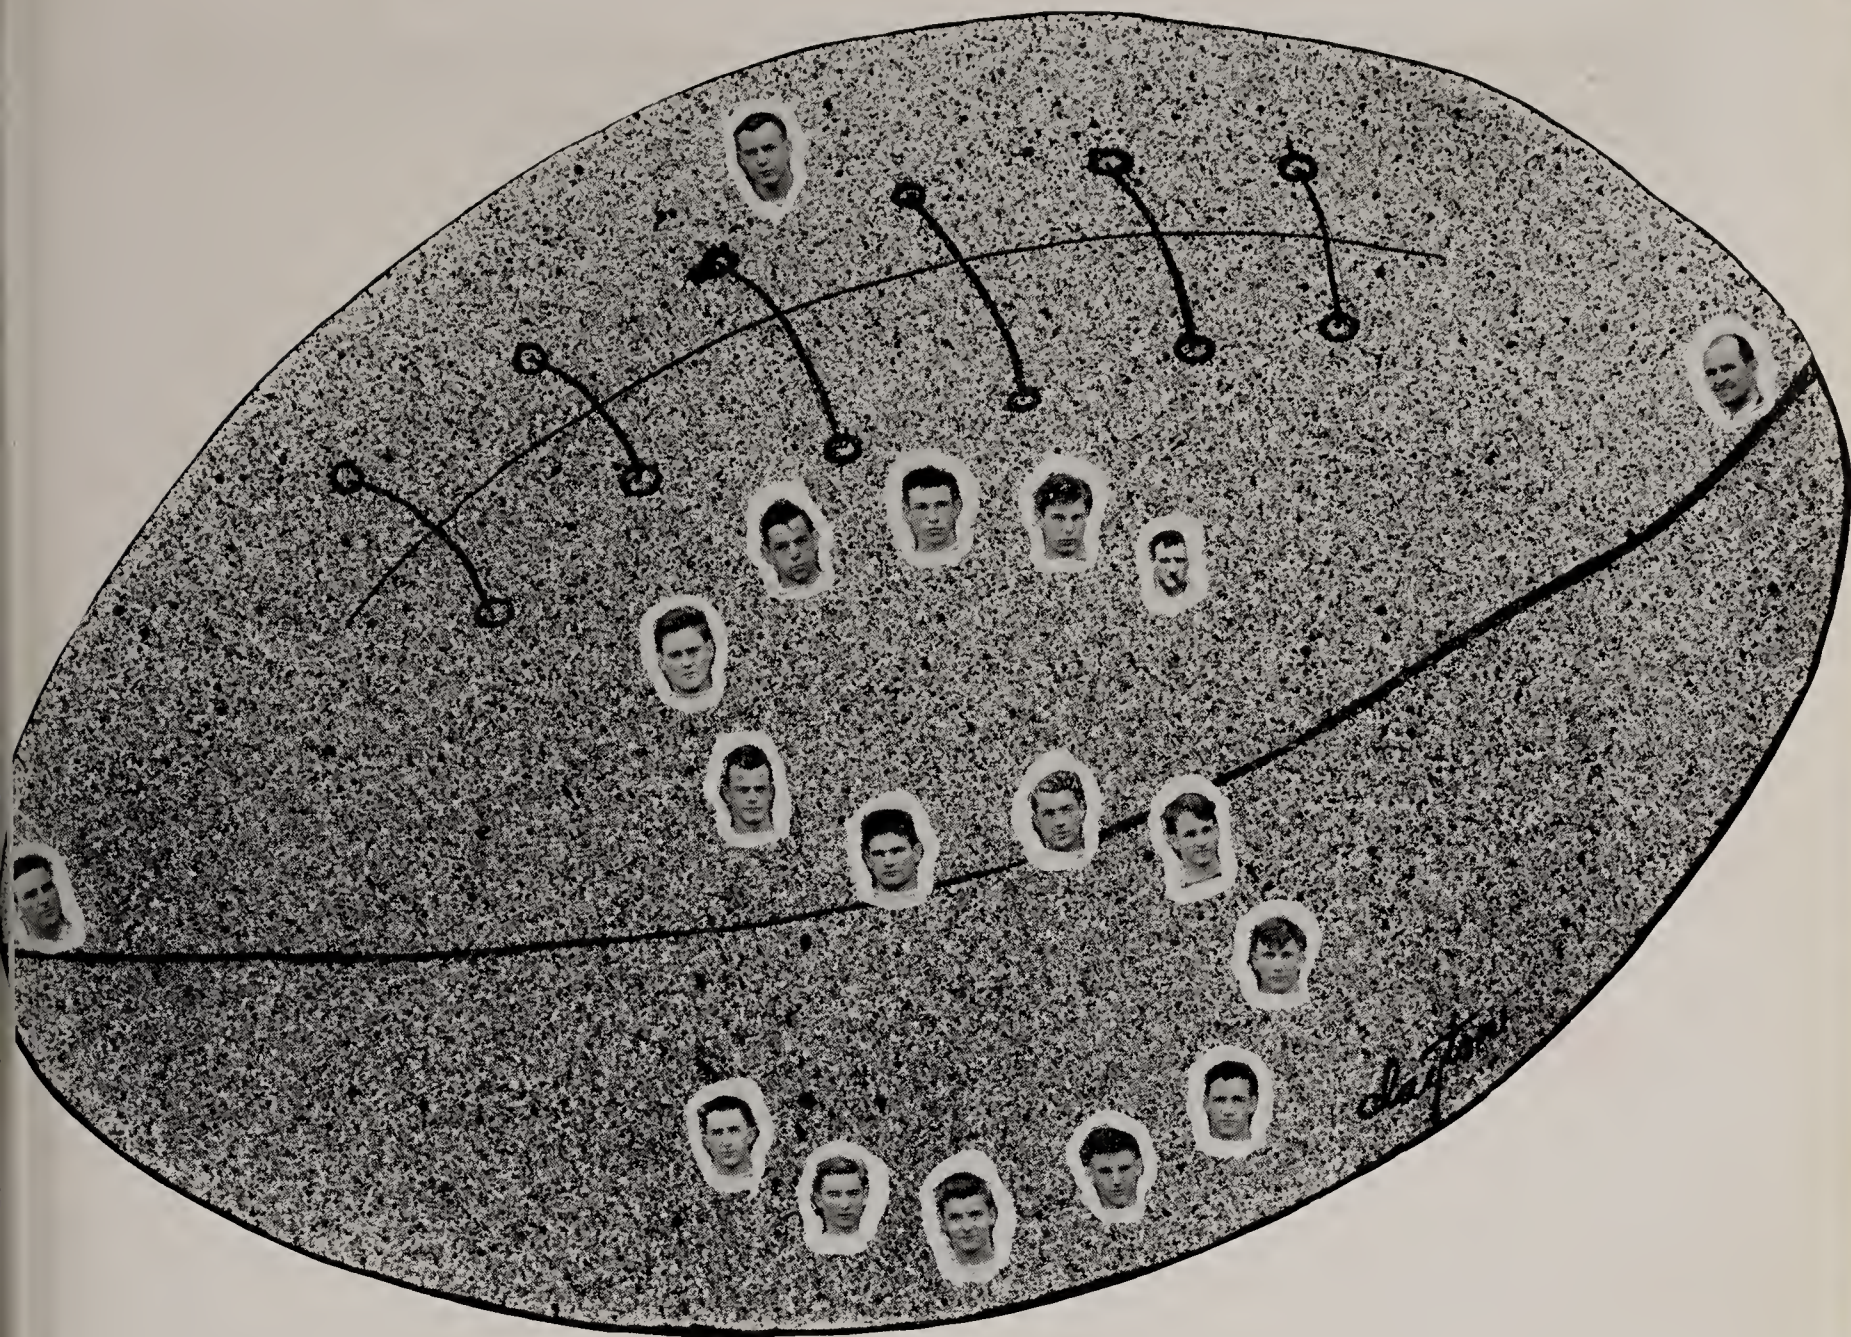

These hyar boys of our din't do so bad this hyar year. They were third only to Coldwater and Paulding in the Little Buckeye League Standing.

In thar first woikout of the year, the Braves lost to Central 24 to 0. In thar second, everybody was much relieved as they beat Elida 12 to 7.

It seemed as though the Shawnee Zekes were having a winning streak when they beat Delphos-Jefferson 38 to 0. Boughan and Miller were outstanding.

This streak din't last as long as we would have liked for it to, as the next week we were beaten by Coldwater, 18 to 6.

Alas, in our fifth and sixth games of the year, we were again defeated. In our fifth game we lost to Pandora, 19 to 6. Again Boughan did right well by running 26 yards to make our only touchdown.

In our sixth game it was so close it warn't funny. The game with Paulding ended 7 to 6 in the favor of Paulding. Sherer, Miller, and Boughan carried the ball quite a bit for Shawnee.

The next game was the Homecoming game, the one with all the queens, and did we ever have a turn-out. The Zekes staged a game that made everybody feel good. They beat Rockford 14 to 6.

In the game with Wapak the Zeke Kenny Miller made a 70-yard plunge to make a touchdown. Although the boys seemed to be doin' good, Wapak's boys seemed to be doin' better and Wapak emerged as victors, 13 to 7.

We have not heard much from the younger boys of the team, but hope they can carry on whar our Senior Zekes left off!

Class Will

The Senior Class, being most generous and willing, do hereby bequeath the following sterling possessions:

Don Adams wills his F.F.A. work to Paul (Ride 'Em High) Bowsher.

Edith Aldrich passes on her much loved shorthand book to Lillian Frueh.

Junior Andrews wills those well-written absence excuses to Miss Rumbaugh (she seems fond of them.)

John Bingham leaves his ability to yodel (why haven't we heard about this before?) to Doris Lee.

Dale Boughan wills his weakness for blondes to Dick Tice.

Darrell Boughan wills his speed on the field (women or football) to Kent Eyler.

Beulah Brennenman wills her formula for keeping young to Joan Kershner.

Dorothy Burgess leaves her blonde queenliness to Marietta Flick.

Robert Burgess leaves his passion for chocolate suckers to Gene McGillvary.

Norman Case wills his charming dimples to Emmet Setters.

Dorothy Cooper leaves a couple feet to Betty Nye (not the ones she walks on—she says she might need them.)

Jack Cuthbert bequeaths his sweet smile to Ronald Harshe. (Brighten up Ronnie.)

Marjorie Ebling leaves her "come hither" looks to Nancy Jacobs.

LaDonna Fantz wills her super personality plus to Ruthie Miller.

Helen Frank leaves her sense of humor to Jean Ann Tribolet.

Richard Fry wills his profile to Herbert Graham.

Jack Frysinger wills his boyish figure to Charles Moeller.

Betty Jean Grass wills her modesty to Donna Lou Miller.

Helen Gray wills her quiet, efficient ways to Ronelva Musser.

Lloyd Grimm leaves his "never say die" spirit to Willard Moore.

Harold Hardin's secret "growth" pills are to be left to Tip Marshall. (Can you use them, Tip?)

Ray Harshman leaves his bright ideas to Ann Townsend.

Evelyn Hartman leaves her best powder puff to Marjorie Schlegel.

Barbara Hefner wills her long black locks to Phyllis Kunkleman.

Eugene Hefner leaves his air-minded ambitions to anyone who would like to fly.

Virginia Hinkle wills her code of ethics to Emma Jean Burchin.

Betty Hixenbaugh leaves her unpleasant memory of exams to Edna Neeper.

Bill Hunt leaves his way with the trumpet to Kathleen Ebling.

Charles Hurd wills his being in a hurry to get nowhere to his sister Juanita (maybe that will slow her down.)

Thomas Kahle wills his ability to "fit in" to his sister Lucille.

Bill Keeling leaves his less interesting girl friends to Don Sytker.

James Keller leaves his he-man-ish-ness to Chuck Kerr. (Ever tried Charles Atlas, Chuck.)

Betty Kerr wills her instructions on "How to Play Basketball" to Charlene Harber.

Mildred Kraft's adherence to the old adage "Silence is golden" will be carried on by Ruth Kerr.

Wilma Lee leaves her fondness for domestic duties to any junior who can get herself a man.

Darrell Lehman wills his artistic temperament to Wallace Scheidt.

Evonda Little's littleness will be left to Nelda Hardin.

Ray Manahan's Who's Who popularity is willed to Don Settemire.

Doris Marshall leaves her passion for tall, dark men to Pat Young.

Loyal McCaslin leaves his manual of instructions on car driving to Jim Stewart.

Doris McGuire leaves her sweet shy ways to Pat Clayton.

Dorothy Mertz leaves her "beat down" pencils to anyone in the market.

Ronald and Donald Miller will their act of looking alike (it must be an act) to any young and willing freshmen.

Kenneth Miller leaves his badly worn stock of jokes to Bernard Morris.

Betty Mitchell leaves her magic needle (to be used in Home Economics) to Ernestine Williamson.

Mildred Lou Moore leaves her drum-majoring ability to Shirley Sneary.

Margaret Mullenhour passes on her mastery of the mimeograph to brother John. George Myers leaves his schoolgirl complexion to Leonard Frymeyer.

Junior Neff wills that drawl we all love to Chuck Copus. (You'll have to slow up, Charlie.)

Neil Perry wills his love of skipping school to Clarence Dupler.

Annabelle Purdy leaves her friendly charm to Shirley Strasburg.

Richard Rudibaugh wills his clarinet to Dick Gosset.

Bill Russell's winning smile goes to Jean Ann Morrison.

Marguerite Settemire wills her grandmother's false teeth (which were willed to her) to Betty Hadsell.

Wilbur Sherer leaves his favorite seat in government to ye coming juniors.

Margery Sidener wills her big, baby blue eyes to Joan Nunn.

Ethel Sneary leaves her dependability to Mary Frail.

Jean Ann Thomas wills her saxophone to Doris Lee.

Kathryn Truesdale's culinary achievements are to go to Maxine Hartman.

Dorothy Worrell's neatness is to be possessed by Beatrice Barbour.

Dallas Zimmerman's Romeo qualities are willed to Kenneth Francis.
